WOMAN'S DIAMOND EAR-RING TORN FROM EAR BY BANDIT

THUG AT HOMESTEAD MUTILATES VICTIM

Mrs. Mary Bishop of Pittsburgh Accused Inhuman Treatment By Bandit At Homestead Who Lacerates Hand And Ear Today

ROBS WOMAN OF DIAMONDS

Officer Joe McGovern of the Homestead Force Empties His Revolver At Supposed Thief, Who Leaves Crimson Trail, But Is Not Captured

Mrs. Mary Bishop, aged 52, of North Side, Pittsburgh, was terribly beaten and otherwise mutilated by a colored bandit of Homestead at 1 o'clock this morning, and the Homestead police and the Coal and Iron police of the Homestead Steel works made an unsuccessful effort to capture the bandit.

At 1 o'clock this morning Officer Joseph McGovern of the Homestead Police force, was returning to duty after his supper hour when he noticed the body of a woman lying in Beech Way, at Ann street. The officer proceeded to make an investigation, and when he approached the form on the ground he heard some one running down Beech Way and called for the intruder to halt. There was no answer and the officer pulled his gun and fired in the direction of the noise.

Immediately there was a return of the shot, and the officer forged ahead in the face of the fire and emptied his gun, and upon following up, the only thing that could be found was a trail of blood leading to what is known as the Scott stables.

The shooting attracted the attention of six members of the Coal and Iron police from the Steel Works plant police force and Desk Sergeant Edward Howe of the Homestead police.

Upon returning to the scene of the robbery the woman was found to be terribly mutilated. On her left hand she had two diamond rings and a wedding ring, which was tight. The negro attempted to remove the diamond rings, but the wedding ring being too tight it was impossible, and the woman's hand was bruised and bleeding from his efforts.

She wore two diamond ear rings, and in his hurry to get possession of the diamonds the bandit literally tore out the lower part of an ear. It was at this time that Officer McGovern appeared on the scene and (Continued on page four)

GIRL HAS HAND HURT TRYING TO HELP WITH THE WASHING

Friday afternoon, vandals, evidently youths, twice entered the United Brethren manse at 475 Reed avenue in the city of Monessen during the absence of the Rev. S. H. Ralston and ransacking through the house, carried off a number of valuable articles.

Rev. Ralston has been making his home alone owing to the fact that his wife was called to Mechanicsburg to attend to her invalid mother. He was in the study for a short time Friday afternoon and stepped into the church for a moment, and on his return discovered that some one had been in the house and taken a fountain pen and pencil from his desk. The miscreants were evidently frightened away by the sudden appearance of the pastor and they unbolted a rear door to make their getaway.

Rev. Ralston then went downtown, and returning to the parsonage a half hour later he again discovered that the house had been entered and the vandals after ransacking through the rooms carried off a valuable church record and four theological books.

An investigation led to the belief that boys who had evidently just got out of school entered the parsonage. Chairs and stools had been used to reach into cupboards and many other articles of value had been overlooked.

DEATH RELIEVES SUFFERING OF NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY

Samuel Bowden Paxton, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Paxton of 424 River street, North Charleroi, and nephew of Mrs. J. D. Berryman of Lincoln avenue, died this morning at 2:45 o'clock due to a complication of diseases. Samuel has been failing in health for the past six years as a result of an attack of influenza at that time, and for the past four weeks has been confined to his bed critically ill. Born July 3, 1915, the boy has lived all of his life in North Charleroi, where he leaves many friends.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Caroline, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bowden Paxton, of California.

Driver Gets Fractured Jaw, Truck Overturns Pins Him Beneath It

Eugene Landrin, aged 21, son of Mrs. Eugene Landrin of Third street and Crest avenue, is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen hospital suffering with a fractured jaw bone and perhaps internal injuries, as a result of an accident yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the Reo truck he was driving for P. Calistri, overturned at Tenth street and Meadow avenue, pinning him beneath it.

Landrin was making his deliveries for the day, and while traversing up the Tenth street grade from Crest avenue, an unpaved street, he evidently got too near the side of the road and in turning into Meadow avenue, the truck reverted to the ditch and overturned. No damage was done to the truck but the driver was immediately rushed to the hospital. His condition seems improved this morning, it was learned from the hospital authorities.

Famous Soldier Of Gettysburg Mustered Out

Alexander Collins, brother of C. G. Collins of Crest avenue, who at the age of fourteen years, enlisted in Company H 110 Pennsylvania Infantry, and who later was wounded twice during the battle of Gettysburg, died at his home near the Peach Orchard on the battlefield at 5:50 Thursday morning, September 4, after a lingering illness.

He was 76 years old at the time of his death. Mr. Collins was not quite a month over 15 years old when he was twice wounded in the skirmish of the first day's fighting on Seminary ridge. He also saw active service in the engagements at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville.

Mr. Collins, who is known to a number of Charleroi people, has been a sufferer for years, his first wound resulting from being hit on the head with a piece of shrapnel and later shot through the knee. These injuries, were sustained in the first days of fighting in Gettysburg and until July 5 he lay in the McPherson barracks near the Seminary buildings. On July 5 he was removed to the Catholic church, which was then being used as a hospital. He remained at the church hospital until July 14, when the bullet which struck him was removed. According to records he was the youngest soldier bearing arms on the battlefield.

He is survived by one son, Zena, and one daughter, Mrs. Lewis Snyder; two brothers, Dr. Wm. Collins, of McKean, Pa., and C. G. Collins of Charleroi, and three sisters, Miss Judith Collins of this place, Mrs. Isaphine Simeral of McKeesport and Mrs. A. J. Shutt of California, Pa.

In the early days of this borough, Mr. Collins visited several weeks here and became acquainted with a number of the early residents of Charleroi and also a number of Charleroi people who have motored to Gettysburg and met him at his home on the battlefield.

CIRCLE CLOSES SUMMER DRIVE

Last Friday evening's meeting of Charleroi Circle 303, Protected Home Circle, with its several special functions, was a fitting climax to the summer campaign, in which the lady members had challenged the gentlemen to wage a membership getting contest.

As has been previously announced, the former were successful and so greatly in the majority that the gentlemen were compelled to comply with the agreement made in the shape of a big feed, in conformity with the season at present—a corn roast.

The defeated ones lost no time in complying with their end of the agreement. A table, with a seating capacity for 50, was laden with "korn on the kob," with weiners, coffee, sandwiches, and other proper accompaniments.

At the conclusion of the feed, the floor was cleared and those who so desired, trip the light fantastic toe to strains of music furnished by the Messrs. Hott and Silbaugh, and the Messrs. Ellison and Humphries.

The successful winning of the recent contest by the females has so spurred them on that they feel confident of another victory, and they have challenged their brothers to another contest, and immediately the boys "threw their hats into the ring," and another contest is now on, beginning with September 5 and closing December 15.

Mrs. Laura McCoy will pilot Side No. 1, with Miss Bessie Harkless as first aid while the other two are directed by Louis Protin, with William Davies, as first aid. Points of credit will be given for new members and punctual attendance. During the evening the Circle was honored by the presence of out-of-town visitors from Uniontown, Belle Vernon and other Circles.

The fall and winter festivities, aside from building up the membership, promise to be interesting, and the members are looking forward to many interesting events.

Hurts Suffered By A Girl Prove Fatal

Olive Kline, aged eight years and five months, daughter of Forest Kline of Avella, was fatally injured last Thursday evening when run down by a motor car.

The little girl is said to have run across the highway in front of the car and was struck by it before Mr. Walker could bring it to a stop. She was removed to the hospital at Steubenville, O., where she died Friday.

Funeral services at the club were held yesterday afternoon.

A Local Lady Is Acquitted, Charge Of Conversion Of Money

Mrs. May Frye, of this place, accused by her mother, Mrs. Harriet R. Tuman, of Dormont, was found not guilty by a jury in the court of Judge James I. Brownson at Washington shortly after the noon hour on Saturday. The jury placed the costs on the private prosecutor, Mrs. Tuman.

Mrs. Tuman, who formerly lived with her daughter, Mrs. Frye, now resides with another daughter, Mrs. Lena Nuttall, in Dormont. Mrs. Tuman accused Mrs. Frye of filling in for $1,200 a signed blank check which she had given to pay state and county taxes in the sum of $34.92. The defense was that Mrs. Tuman, who is 84 years of age, had authorized the making of the check for large amount, but had forgotten the incident. All of Friday was taken up with the testimony, and Saturday morning was devoted to the arguments and the court's charge. The jury was out but about half an hour.

HILL FAMILIES HOLD REUNION

The eighth annual reunion of the Hill family was held at Oakland park on Saturday. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions, over 100 members of the Hill clan, with their invited guests, were present to do honor to the occasion.

A real old-fashioned picnic dinner was served by the ladies, at the conclusion of which the regular business of the organization was transacted. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Charles M. Hill; secretary, Clarence Hill; treasurer, C. E. Hill.

A letter of regret was read from the Rev. J. Hill Weaver of East Liverpool, Ohio, which stated that he was unable to attend account of sickness. Short addresses, suitable to the occasion, were made by the Rev. Craig of Beallsville, and Dr. R. J. Hill of Canton, Ohio. The festivities of the day concluded with a social session, adjournment being made to meet at Oakland park the first Saturday in the month of September, 1935.

The Hill families are descendants of the first families settling in this country, their ancestors coming here from Ireland.

WHAT DEFENSE DAY MEANS TO PEOPLE.

PROCLAMATION.

The President of the United States has designated Friday, September 12, 1934, as National Defense Day, a day on which to make Mobilization tests of Regular Army, National Guards and Organized Reserve Units, a day for assembly and parades of military organizations, for patriotic music and addresses, and prayer for our National welfare; therefore I, J. B. Tussing, Burgess, in accordance with the wishes of our President, call upon all patriotic citizens of our Borough to take part in the demonstration and give such assistance as may be requested by the Citizens' Committee and the organizations to the end that we may depict the true conditions of our Army and our willingness and ability to mobilize in defense of our Country.

Opportunity For Patriotic Citizens And Patriotic Societies To Show Their Support of the Plans of U. S. Government

AGREATSPEAKERS'CHANCE

Orators' Opportunity Afforded to Explain to the Public What the Defense Policy of the United States Is—How Congress Provided For Protection

The object of the mobilization demonstration to be held on September 12, is to depict the progress of mobilization, the dependence of military units on the community to which allotted, and the contribution in personnel that would be expected from each community in event of a national emergency.

These plans now being put to the first test, were prepared by the War department in carrying out the instructions given by Congress in the National Defense act. It means a physical demonstration of the new army of the United States as it exists at the present time. A test of the plans already made by the War department for expanding to full strength our skeleton army created by the National Defense act, which was passed by Congress in 1920. (The Regular Army, National Guard and Organized Reserves are all skeleton organizations in peace time). It is an opportunity for well-informed speakers to explain to the public what the National Defense policy of the United States is—in other words, to tell how Congress planned to provide for our country's protection when they passed the National Defense Act; and further, to tell the people of each community what they will be called on to contribute as a community in men, services, and materials to do their part in defending their country insofar as this can be done at this time. It is an opportunity for patriotic citizens and patriotic societies to show their support of the plans of the United States government, to protect and defend the people of the United States whenever the need of such protection and defense arises.

The One Day National Defense Volunteer who enrolls for the Defense Day test of September 12, does not thereby become a military member of any unit of the army. He remains a civilian and by enrolling incurs no obligation whatever except the self-imposed one of reporting in person at a designated time and place on September 12, to demonstrate in the eyes of the community his readiness patriotically to respond should the Nation find it necessary to mobilize for defense.

THREE KILLED WHEN FLYER HITS AN AUTO

Kittanning, Pa., Sept. 8.—Three were killed and one injured, not seriously, when their automobile was struck by the northbound Pennsylvania Buffalo Flyer at the Market Street crossing here early today.

The dead are: Frank Pipet, his wife and their eight-months old baby. They lived at Mansion Street, Hazelwood, near Pittsburgh.

The injured man is John Lucas, of Second avenue, Pittsburgh, driver of the car. He is in the Kittanning hospital with lacerations of the shoulder and bruises of the body.

The automobile, a coupe, was owned by Pipet, and apparently they were returning to Pittsburgh. Pipet and his wife were thrown to one side when the train struck the machine, while Lucas and the baby were carried on the pilot of the engine for a distance of 100 feet before the train came to a stop.

The accident occurred about 12:40 o'clock, Eastern Standard time this morning. The Pennsylvania Buffalo Flyer is considered one of the fastest trains on this division.

VENTURESOME SWIMMERS
It is urged and rightly that every child should be taught to swim, but now and again one is inclined to think that there may be more danger in knowledge than in ignorance of the art. Every summer brings its tale of good swimmers who met death by drowning. It is the expert swimmer who confidently takes risks or overtaxes his strength, while those who can not swim prudently sport in the shallows near the shore, thus for the most part keeping out of danger.

Drownings resulting from inability to swim are still much more numerous, it is said, but over-venturesome swimmers are often the victims. The surprising statement is made that few deep-sea sailors can swim, although one would expect ability to do so to be listed among the first requirements. Our naval authorities insist that every man on our war-ships shall be able to swim, and swimming "courses" are required by many of our schools and colleges.

The perils of overconfidence are vividly brought to attention in the account of the recent drowning of Florence Leopold, a young American woman, off the coast of Normandy. "She was a strong and skillful swimmer," we read, "and had such trust in her powers that she entered the sea on a day when the surf was so high that the beach had been roped off and bathing forbidden. This prohibition she ignored or evaded, and quite alone plunged into the waves. She made her way through the breakers to the sea beyond, but when, after swimming about in the big rollers for a while, she attempted to reach the shore, she found herself struggling with currents which, in her growing weariness, she could not overcome. The efforts at rescue were ineffective and a day later her body was found on the shore far away."

SURPRISES FROM WILLIAMSTOWN.

Surprising utterances are being reported from the Institute of Politics at Williamstown in these days. For example, there is the prediction of Read Admiral Rodgers that as soon as the United States has a population of 200,000,000 it will be necessary to embark on a career of aggression and conquest in order to hold its primacy and widen the economic opportunity of its crowding people. This recalls the prophecy of Sir William Crookes 26 years ago that in a quarter of a century the wheat production of the world would fail utterly to supply its population with bread, yet there is still bread and no indication that at an early date the multiplied inhabitants will crowd each other off the planet. It also recalls Bernhardi's famous teaching of the German people that "wherever we look in nature we find that war is a fundamental law of development" and that it was imperative to act on that knowledge before there was actual "biological necessity" for a great predatory war.

Then there is the speaker before the Institute of Politics who claimed that the Roosevelt family had documents to show that President Roosevelt, who acted as peacemaker between Russia and Japan, undertook to back Japan against France and Germany if they should attempt to rescue Russia, while agreeing with the Japanese envoy that if Japan would not attack the Philippines the United States would consent for Japan to do as it pleased with Korea. Obviously this understanding not only would have made the United States a party to the destruction of Korean independence but would have involved this country in a very sizable European "entanglement" in case France and Germany or other European States had decided to back or "rescue" Russia. Curious unwritten history this, if genuine.

LIFE'S WORK AND PLAY
The London Herald has published an interesting statistical estimate of the time spent in the various occupations of a typical life of about three score years and ten, from the longest to the shortest occupation—as follows: Sleep, 23 years; work, 18 years; reading 7 years; eating, 3 years; bathing, shaving and dressing, 2 years and a quarter years; walking, trains, etc., 2 and a quarter years; play, 1 and three-quarter years; sickness, 1 year and a half; school, 1 year and a quarter; entertainments, etc., a year; "sweethearting," 60 days; waiting for trains, 15 days; waiting for mail, 7 years.

The only estimate in this list is based on the experience of a single person, that giving years. Nearly all of us pass one-third of our lives in bed, although ability to enjoy eight full hours of the "sweet restorer" is far from universal. The estimate of 18 years for work will be thought too low. With the exception of tramps, gentlemen of leisure, young women of prosperous families and others in general, the typical man spends at least a third of the 24 hours in labor or devotion to business, in recognition of which we have the eight-hour law. Some of the other averages, the time spent in eating, for example, may be safe enough, but in others there are as many differences as there are people. The promptly successful swain might accept 60 days as a reasonable average for "sweethearting," but the series of courtships that in many instances precede attainment would of course consume more time. In these days of automobiles an American statistician would fix upon a large figure for motoring which the London man does not even mention, and would perhaps omit walking altogether.

FIRST OF A THREE GAME SERIES STARTS TOMORROW

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT
CUDDY DEMARCO, BRICKY RYAN AND WILLIE DAVIES PICKED AS TOPLINERS

Ray Coll, sporting editor of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, summarizes the boxing situation in the Pittsburgh district, in which he deduces that there are six toplineers in the district, of which Charleroi enjoys the distinction of having three of the six, or 50 percent. This fact is decidedly complimentary to Charleroi and the immediate vicinity and from this it looks as if Cuddy DeMarco, Brick Ryan and Willie Davies are going to have a busy time of it during the coming indoor season. Mr. Coll, in his comment, says:

"Local fans like to see local lads in action. At present, we have three topnotchers—Greb, Zivic and DeMarco, but this trio can't keep one club going throughout the season. Of the lesser lights there's Johnny Hamm of Braddock, Boo Ryan of Lawrenceville, Sandy Seifert of North Side, Willie Davies of Charleroi, Kid Carpenter of New Kensington, and our old friends, Tony Norman and Brick Ryan. Out of these may come some main bout attractions. Time and circumstance alone will tell. It is that with which the promoter must gamble."

"All of which goes to show that the boxing game is a big gamble. A promoter never knows where he stands half the time. Johnny McGarvey, Motor Square matchmaker, says he doesn't know where his talent will come from this year. At present there is just one good bout—that much discussed DeMarco-Zivic engagement. It was good for an outdoor attraction but it is now too late to consider an out-door show in Pittsburgh."

CHARLEROI BEATS DONORA IN GAME SATURDAY

Charleroi Independents defeated the Donora Athletics in the last game of the season at the Charleroi Baseball park Saturday afternoon by score of 3-2. The contest went 11 innings. In the locals' last half, Washington, pitching for Donora, walked two men; Swetonic, sacrificed, and Catto hit the ball to right field scoring the winning two runs.

Charleroi appeared on the field with a patched-up club. Lou Phillips was on third in place of Smith, while the outfield presented Larrison, pitcher in right, with Swetonic in left, and Catto in middle. Kiefer was in the box for Charleroi, with Consonery catching. Kiefer pitched good ball, and should have shut the visitors out in nine innings, but for the muff and misjudging, in the first inning, of a blow that went for three bases hit by Duncan. The locals tied the score in the third, after which neither side could tally, with the game being pretty much of a pitcher's battle. The score:

GREB AN TUNNEY TO FIGHT TONIGHT IN CLEVELAND ARENA

Tonight is one of Pittsburgh's big nights in the fight game. Two native sons are battling on foreign fields and while there seems to be considerable interest in the success of Tommy Greb against the Gene Stein in New York, there is little doubt that the ears of all fans not actually attending the Harry Greb-Gene Tunney battle in Cleveland, will be glued onto the radio or telephone awaiting the outcome of the fourth meeting between these two light-heavyweight rivals. It will be 10 rounds to no decision, the verdict resting with the scribes at the ringside, who from early information, are coming from almost every city east of Chicago to get a line on the first meeting of this pair on neutral territory.

Since they first met two years ago it is doubtful if ever a more bitter feud has sprung up between two fighters, who are alleged to be in the game just for the dollars it brings. Greb and Tunney have been enemies since the first time Greb won the decision over the then light heavyweight champion of America and this feeling has been aggravated by the two subsequent decisions Tunney was awarded of the Pittsburgh-led contest Gene back in the title class.

The table appointments were carried out in pink and white and small baskets filled with candy were given as favors. Miss Helen received many gifts.

DO YOU KNOW?
ANSWER IN "THE COVERED WAGON"

Do you know that Abraham Lincoln once—in the Forties—declined the governorship of Oregon, then a newly acquired territory?

That in August 1848, Oregon became a territory of the Union?

That Kit Carson, the famous scout, carried the first gold nuggets from California Eastward in 1848?

That the news of California's gold did not reach the press for publication until September, 1848—in Boston and New York—or attain notice on the floor of Congress until December 5th?

That many children were born in the wagon trains that crossed the prairies and plains in the Forties?

TESTED jar rubbers! Think what that means — no more bulging rubbers, no blowing out, no drying up. In place of the old uncertainty and anxiety, you have security against loss!

Stretch and "set" are the two things a jar rubber must do if you are to have an airtight seal. It must stretch just enough to slip easily over the neck of the jar. If it has too much stretch it will not snap back to its original size. Once in place it must "set," grip firmly the neck of the jar and make an airtight seal for your peace.

"U. S." Jar Rubbers come to you thoroughly tested for stretch and "set." They are made by the United States Rubber Company—largest rubber organization in the world—from high-grade rubber grown on the company's own plantations in Sumatra.

Before they leave the factory "U. S." Jar Rubbers are tested for all those qualities which enable them to meet every demand of modern canning.

Ask your dealer for "U. S." Jar Rubbers.

IMPORTANT NOTES ON CANNING

Cook hard fruits, such as hard peats, under-ripe peaches, pineapples, sweet apples, quinces, water-melon-rind or citron, in a small amount of water, or steam them until tender before placing them in a heavy syrup. If these fruits are not treated in this way, the preserve will be hard and tough instead of plump and tender.

Pack the fruit firmly in clean, tested jars to within one-half inch of the top. Pack pitted, stoned or cored fruits with the crystals toward the center of the jar. Fill the jars with boiling sirup or hot water.

Cherries that are not desirable for canning may make good juice for use as a beverage or in pudding.

Death To Be Asked For Woman, Confessed Poisoner of Five

WORK STARTED SOON ON DONORA CHURCH

The borough of Donora is to have a new church building—the St. John Episcopal, which will be constructed at the corner of Tenth street and Thompson avenue in the borough named in a short time.

Bids for the erection of the building were recently received and opened and referred to the diocesan board for consideration and approval. It was found that the bid of the Donora Lumber Company was the lowest and it is said the company will probably receive the contract.

A small delay in the beginning of the labor incident to the construction of the building has been due, account of court action to clear up the title to the lots, which have now been disposed of and makes it probable that the work will be started within a short time, it is opined within a week or two.

The plans for the structure were prepared by Architect C. C. Crompton, and were approved by the diocesan board of architecture. The church will be of red tapestry brick along Gothic lines, beautiful and imposing. It will have a seating capacity of approximately 350 and a finished basement will be utilized as a parish house. A vestry and a pastor's study will occupy wings at the rear of the edifice and adjoining the altar. When the church is completed and finished it will represent an outlay of about $25,000.

The Episcopal church of Donora has a membership of about 100 families, and is growing, with prospects bright for its future.
